

6th-12th August Rip Curl Boardmasters

It was always a dilemma for Surf Punx whether to participate in the Boardmasters or not, as it really goes against our ethos. In the end we decided to take part, to raise our profile, after being underground for the last two years.

It was a very hectic run up to the event, with the opening day being very nerve racking, to see how we would be perceived by the surfing world.

The week went well with great feedback from various parties. The evenings were even better, partying hard (probably too hard on occasions!!).

It was a great event, with a week of sun & surf, which in August in England is a miracle itself.

It was good to meet and form friendships with some cool people, especially our neighbours on the 'Christian Surfers' stand (we've always been a little nervous around Christians, but our view has now been changed-what a great bunch of guys!)

Thanks to everyone who helped and supported us on the lead up to and during the event.

Also a big thank you to all of you who become new recruits in our renegade army!!

See you out the back sometime!

Surf Punx Team
